"According to the tenor of a London special to an American free trade paper, the British manufacturers are highly wrought up in feeling on account of the McKinley ball, and it is said there are FLEMING BROS., Fittsburgh, Pa. dire threats uttered of retalintory legislation against American products. But if the tariff is a tax, levied wholly upon the American consumers of foreign goods, as they have been telling us, why need the gentlemen on the other side make a fuse about it? Haven't the penple of this country a right to tax themselves all they please? Really, it begins to look as if our friends across the brine who are laboring so zealously to reform the American tariff, are not wholly disinterested in the matter. They act and talk just now as if the tariff is a tax for free entrance into the best market in the world."

Wa believe in the people as thoroughly as any Democrat in the world. But the reason why we are a Republican and not a Democrat is that all the time we have known American politics the Republican party is and has been a party of the people appealing to the people to apply their best and most elevating motives and impulses to law and government and public conduct; and all the time the Democratic party is and has been a party of the people that tries to get the people to apply their lowest and worst motives and inclinations to law and government and public conduct. This for damental difference in the two parties is plain in the debate and action on the silver law. The Republicans have tried to get whatever benefit for the people there was in the use of silver without making it a method of dishonesty and swindling The Democrate have only so far supported silver money as it served for dishonesty and swind-

By the time the next corn crop is marketable we shall require the product (corn) of about 77,000,000 acres and shall have the product of 78,500,000 and in the event the yield proves a short one shall need it all and in one or two years at most, population will have overtaken the corn product and will then soon outrun it pecessitating the conversion of much wheat land to corn growing. All this follows from (practically) the exhaustion of the arable lands. The believer in cheap wheat probably forgets that but 35 per cent. of farm areas (for the whole country) can be devoted to the growth of staple crops, but such is the fact. The American farmer can get on with less wheat, but without an abundance of corn he can not meet public expectation in the way of beef, pork, mutton and that beverage which may not choer but is sure to inebriate; hence the corn field is ultimately certain to grow in breadth at the expense of the wheat field, although the very reverse may be true for a year or two.-Rural World. L. A. Goodman, secretary of the Missouri State Horticultural Society says: "The apple crop is the most important of all, and it is safe to say that in the raising of this standard fruit Missouri will be the banner state this year. This is due to the almost total failure of the crop in Western New York and Ohio, and to the light yield in Michigan, Tennessee and other apple producing states. Last year a full crop was raised although only a 60 per cent crop will be cathered this year, farmers will receive more than they did in 1889. A fair estimate would place the value of last year's gathering at $7,500,000 but I think $10,000,000 worth of apples will be rold this year. Apples will be worth $1 a bushel and may bring over that sum.

John C. Bender, a pension agent from St. Joseph, Mo., was arrested in from St. Joseph, Mo., was arrested in Leavenworth, Kansas, last week on the charge of violating the United States statutes in regard to pencion fees. A short time ago he acted as attorney, and secured a pension of $2000 for Mrs. Amanda Carter, colored, of that city, of whom he asked $200 for expenses in procuring her claim. She refused to pay him the amount, and he brought suit to recover it, which came to trial before Justice Plowman. At the conclusion of the suit he was arrested by Special Pension Examiner Oukey, of Topeka, and taken before Commissioner Clough, he was released on a bond, and he immedwas released on a bond, and be immed
